Divided

Court Yard Hounds

We've been dividing eveything that we have built between us
We spend our days together, nights we spend alone
Dressers full of love notes and a waltz around the kitchen table
It's all you'll have left me when you goSo stay a little longer
Don't let this feeling go to waste
When the sun comes up
I want to be there when you wakeDandelion was the name you gave to me
When we drove from New England the year that we first met
They were only things standing as the winter melted
You haven't given up on me in all this time since thenSo stay a little longer
Don't let this feeling go to waste
When the sun comes up
I want to be there when you wakeWork is wild along the miles of playing songs and seeing faces
I board a plane in Austin 'cause they need me on the coast
I hate to leave you all the while
Knowing that we're compromising
I wish you'd call me one last time and beg me not to goAnd I'll stay a little longer
Don't let this feeling go to waste
And when the sun comes up
I wanna be there won't youStay a little longer
Don't let this feeling go to waste
And when the sun comes up
I want to be there when you wake
