Tracers

Edibles

It's better to have sweet dreams about her and forget it all in the morning
It's better to have sweet dreams about her and forget it all in the morningDreams
They fade, disappear in the light
They're lost when you open your eyes
She's somewhere out there
Out of reach and out of sightIt's sweeter to stay true to what we knew and to live in the world without her
It's sweeter to stay true to what we knew and to live in the world without herDreams
When you wake, disappear in the light
They're lost when you open your eyes
She's somewhere out there
Out of reach and out of sightSomewhere out there
Walking round this neighbourhood
Leading parallel, never-touching lives
Lives that seem as ephemeral and fleeting as our dreamsDreams
They fade, disappear in the light
They're lost when you open your eyes
She's somewhere out there
Out of reach and out of sightIt's better to have sweet dreams about her and forget it all in the morning
It's better to have sweet dreams about her and forget it all in the morning

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/