

Can't Move On

Automatic Loveletter

You build a heart
that's strong Walls to last long Its paper mache You think the battle's won
No use for shields
And guns
You'll need them now That the lump takes a home in your throat
With the words that You're choking
as you try
To tell yourself its ok
Flying by time to gaze
But never face You're stuck in the moment when you thought you were rolling but you cant move on you feel like your able to love past the moment but you cant move on asking why asking why why i cant move on You can't go please stay No don't stay go I'm left I'm right
I'm black I'm white You ride a carrousel round and round till the sickness grows inside that lump takes a strangling hold squeezes tight till your cold and tears run dry and where you once were warm now is tattered and torn crumbles and fades You're stuck in the moment when you thought you were rolling but you cant move on you feel like your able to love past the moment but you cant move on asking why asking why why i cant move on Incomplete Typical reaction
I can't get over over Over you This is how the story goes Glory in the moment You can't move on cant move on cant move on oh i cant move on You're stuck in the moment when you thought you were rolling but you cant move on you feel like your able to love past the moment but you cant move on asking why asking why why i cant move on
