The Day No One Needed to Know

Moneen

All this time we wait on this shallow line
For a martyr to save our lives, when you can't
A warning sign a lack in reaction time
And mixed with a war to fight keeps us hereThe tide is in, it's time we all learn to swim
These rooftops won't save our lives
And nor did you, and everything's all rightNothing's okay, weve been lied to, we're so frail
I can pray, scream out his name
While they, they all keep sinking away
Sinking awayA hope, a cure reminds me this seems absurd to stay
Find who you swore to save, well you can't
Let us in, let us in, we can't find shelter in time
And life's all we have 'cause everything's alrightJust keep on saying nothing's okay
We've been lied to, we're so frail
I can pray, scream out his name
While they, they all keep sinkingAll this time's gone by, the taste of revenge
A blood thirsty grin, it's all okay, nothing's okaySing loud, sing louder, sing to feel, sing for everyone
Please sing loud, sing louder, sing to heal, sing for everyone
Sing for life, sing for choices, sing for everyone without voicesSing for love, sing for love laughter
Sing for love everyone here and after
Sing for love fear, sing for love hatred
Sing for love everyone less than sacredLet's sing for life, sing for choices, sing for everyone without voices
You can pray while they, they all keep sinking away
A hero won't come in time, a martyr won't save our lives, he can't

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/