

The Blood, The Sweat, The Tears (Live 2012)

Machine Head

Oh yes, I walk the path, the righteous
Many men have walked before
And this pain's held a broken shell
Straight shackled onto the floor So welcome to the world that I lived in Puking up bile and hate
My world has turned to false inclusion
Sickening broken state But then I'll see there's things in me
That make me want it more than you
But I deny all this 'cause pain was my bliss
Gettin' wasted on self destruct So hold on to the edge It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years [Incomprehensible] Oh yes, I walk the path that gives me
Confidence strong and pure
Now I realize that freedom rises
From confronting the source I built these walls around me
And I can break them all away
And I'll focus all the strength I call
Unstoppable energy So hold on to the edge It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years that you mean to show I take this and focus
Create this to take Hold on I am [Incomprehensible]
Hold on I'm falling
I'm falling down again to It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years It's all about
The blood, the sweat, the tears
Attribute to the strength
All through the years Attribute 'cause
'Cause time will sear the wound
'Cause time will sear the wound

'Cause time will seal the wound{I hope that was it 'cause I'm gonna pass out}

Songwriters

FLYNN, ROBERT CONRAD / DUCE, ADAM / LUSTER, AHRUE / MCCLAIN, DAVEPublished by

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>