

On and On

Kevin Max

You are the sunshine
I am the rain that falls in line
You are a candle
And I am your darkness You are the moonlight
I am the cloud that passes by
You are a vision
And I am the blindness And so it goes
The story is too old to know it all On and on
We dance until the song is off the radio
On and on
We hold each other long after the crowd is gone
On and on
Our love goes on and on You are an island
I am the raging of the sea
You are a fortress
And I am abandoned You are the valley
You are the bird that flies so high
You are a temple
And I am a beggar And so it goes
The story is too old to know it all On and on
We dance until the song is off the radio
On and on
We hold each other long after the crowd is gone
On and on
Our love goes on and on Take me to your drawbridge
Come take me to your door
Take me when I'm hungry, baby
Take me when I'm poor Take me when I'm sick of love
Take me when you've had enough
Take me when I'm lost, alone
And don't know the reasons why On and on
We dance until the song is off the radio
On and on
We hold each other long after the crowd is gone
On and on
Our love goes on and on You are a vision
And I am the blindness

Songwriters

Kevin Max;Erick ColePublished by BLIND THIEF PUBLISHING;SAD ASTRONAUT MUSIC;UP IN THE MIX MUSIC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>