Ellegarden

I should have peace of mind
But I get lost and retrace my steps
And time just passesThe memories keep piling up
And crash noisily to the ground
We'll turn today into a memory, tooI missed seeing the rainbow
Because I walked with my head down
So as not to break the thin iceThere were roads I didn't hesitate to take
It was scarier
To lose the freedom to go anywhereThe memories keep piling up
And crash noisily to the ground
We'll turn today into a memory, too
Even if mistakes and disagreements
Tear us apart
We'll turn today into a memory, tooI stopped in my tracks and look up at the sky
To see the first falling star of the year
And thought, maybe it's okay like this
