Lostfound

Francis Harris

Late in the night
when the darkness is deep
come to my home
let me offer you tea

Silence may like the sails on the sea lay down your love
lay down

Lay down your sorrow
lay down your love
Stay till tomorrow
let yourself go

Lay down your sorrow
lay out your love
Stay till tomorrow
open up

Sadness may go
like the sails on the sea
Come to my home
let me offer you tea
Late in the night
when the darkness is deep Lay down your love
stay close to me

Lay down your love
stay till tomorrow
open up
Lay down your sorrow
lay out your lie Come see the new dawn break through the night

Sadness may go
like the sails on the sea
Come to my home

let me offer you tea
Late in the night
love will arise
and the stars kiss the sea

All words lost is found in the final round deepest darkest hour open of your coat

Sadness may go
like the sails on the sea
Come to my home
let me offer you tea
Come with your bag
come to your dream

All words lost is found in the final round
deepest darkest hour open up my soul
