

She's Gone

Eric Clapton

In the middle of the night, in the middle of the day
She can make me feel all right and make it all okay
She can make me feel so good by looking in my eye
She can take me to the edge, take me to the sky
She's gone, she's gone, she's gone
I'm telling you she's gone
She put her hands in my hair, put her kiss on my face
She puts my heart in my mouth, my soul in its place
Who could love me like she do? Who could even start to try?
'Cause she can love me more than you, I never wonder why
She's gone, she's gone
I'm telling you she's gone, she's gone
I'm telling you she's gone, she's gone
I'm telling you she's gone, she's gone
She's gone
Like a shadow in the dark, like a ripple on a stream
I see her float across my mind like a picture in a dream
And the more that I know, seems the more that I care
Give the world and all I own just to know that she's still there
Like a shadow in the dark, like a ripple in a stream
But you're floating on my mind
She's gone, she's gone
She's gone, she's gone
I'm telling you she's gone, she's gone
She's gone, she's gone
She's gone
I'm telling you she's gone, she's gone
She's gone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>