

Daikaisei Part I

Bo Ningen

Going upslope, finding forgotten emotion from the unknown past.

Knowing it's coming back deep into mine. In order to resolve the uncertain feeling even, swimming among the sound, I search for how not to drown. Gradually coming back into my brain, pretending not understanding still is the things I cannot leave there. Into tomorrow, forward, to that weather again, in the unknown place there is great weather.

Returning forward to that park again. Things I couldn't see back then are still there for myself now.

Don't know, yet to understand, unknown head.

Here I go forward again gradually resolving these things invisible.
