Lost My Way

Lost my way
Fell down a hole
No-one's gonna come and save my soul
Lost my way
No going back
I'm stuck right here, and that is that
Lost my way
Fell down a hole
No-one's gonna come and save my soul
Lost my way
No going back
I'm stuck right here, and that is that
Look around this manor and all you'll see
Is ill mannered people where their man is and they're ill
As the man or person you've ever met in your manor
Or are ever likely to meet
In any manor, 'cause this manor's deep

You judge them on the life that they lead
But then it's not all as black and white as it seems They're all some way enslaved and their circumstances
Shape the way the behave in their battle on the street

That's why these kids ain't got no hope
Walking round their estates thinking "this is it"
They ain't ever getting out and it's no joke
Probably is the best of life they're ever gonna get
They don't believe they can succeed
Or the opportunities you send back there really exist
'Cause they've been told every day from the minute they were born
By their fucked up parents that they ain't shit

Mum and dad never made nothing of themselves
Nah, so why the hell are they gonna?
School's a waste of time, they're only gonna fail
Their older brother went to jail, why ain't they gonna?

I mean they hang with thugs, and sell drugs
Ain't afraid to put a couple of slugs in you if you say something
They aren't all that way but you don't care either way

To you they're all the same, just a bunch of thugs

You used to rap everyday
Looking for the devil's pain
The young soul's dad went to jail
Listen when you here him say

Lost my way
Fell down a hole
No-one's gonna come and save my soul

Lost my way
No going back
I'm stuck right here, and that is that

God said: "Let there be light"
Created Adam and Eve
Then he gave them eyes and told them both to both believe
In something they'd never actually physically see
But then the devil came along and planted a seed
And doubt started growing from the ground like trees
Right up to the sky so profoundly seen

To be the only thing in this life that wasn't a dream
Made from stone, steel and iron beams
The council blocks they defined the mean
And bullied the sky so that everybody can see
Some birds are caged and will never be free
And gradually people began to change their beliefs
Until god was nothing more than just a fictional being

The worship and money merged all colours and creed
Into one true religion that was driven by greed
Corporate machines trying to sell you shit you don't need
On television and the ad breaks in between Until people only cared about material things
Not lives with other fellow human beings
And I'm guilty of it too, or so it seems, I've...

Lost my way
Fell down a hole
No-one's gonna come and save my soul
Lost my way
No going back
I'm stuck right here, and that is that

If you don't believe iN something then you'll fall for anything
(And if that happens then you've lost your way)

If you don't believe iN something then you'll fall for anything
(And if that happens then you've lost your way)
If you don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything
don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything

don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything

Fall for anything, fall for anything
don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything

don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything
don't believe if something then you'll fall for anything
Fall for anything, fall for anything!.
