Short Cut for a Quick Get Away

Glasseater

Sometimes old habits die hard
And I don't know how I've managed
To live like this but I haveIts a lust for the spur of the moment
It makes me content
If I could change it I wouldThe problem solver was cut short
Shortcut for a quick getaway
An easy way out to forget the old days
Shortcut for a quick getawayIt's always easier to ask for forgiveness
Than to ask for permission
Too many lips have graced meAnd at times I'm okay with that Then again at times Im dying
To kiss your lips once moreThe problem solver was cut short
Shortcut for a quick getaway
An easy way out to forget the old days
Shortcut for a quick getawayI wish I could find a peace to this war
If I could put my weapons down
I wouldBut too many times
I've had to run away
And too many times
I've had to sufferI've had to feel what it is like
To be at war with myself
To be at war with your love
To be at war without your loveThe problem solver was cut short
Shortcut for a quick getaway
An easy way out to forget the old days
Shortcut for a quick getaway

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/