Slackjaw Jezebel

Gov't Mule

Babies were crying before you got here
I believe they're crying still
The world as we know, it keeps right on turning
I guess it always willStill something's changed, I hate to admit it
I ain't been the same since you came around
My mind is swollen from the weariness
Wish you'd never flagged me downTwisted angel cast out of some strange heaven
Sent down here to pull me out of my shell
You show up on my doorstep, honey dripping from your mouth
Like some slackjaw jezebelFlesh and bones is all I'm made of
I couldn't have stopped you if I tried
Spell you were casting way too heavy
Now I can't be satisfiedBut you think you're going to save me, you better think again
I've had saviors galore
And although you are a vision, an angel wrapped in sin
I've seen it all beforeTwisted angel cast out of some strange heaven
Sent down here, landed on my window still
Now you're walking through my back door, honey dripping from your mouth
Like some slackjaw jezebelYou've got your bag of dust, your divining rod
I wonder how I got myself here
Wheel's spinning faster and I know I got to jump off
I guess I'm weighing the fire against the fearYou spoon-fed my ego, made me feel so young
Kissed me 'til my lips were sore
But I know you're just a jezebel with a poisonous tongue
I've been down this road beforeIt's full of twisted angels, cast out of some strange heaven
Sent down here to put me through hell
You show up on my doorstep, honey dripping from your mouth
Like some slackjaw jezebel, oh, like some slackjaw jezebel
