This Is What You Get

Sever Your Ties

This is what you get
This is what you get
This is what you getEveryones asking the same thing
But you only have one answer, by the way
They look at you, they look at you
Youre so afraid, youre so afraid of what they think
Of what they think so you just turn awayYou run into your room, shut the door and cry
But dont stay true to these feelings you hold inside
You have your vanity and you cant blame them
When you believe it's true and everythings a lieThis is, this is what you wanted so you cant complain Life is everything but what you think it is
This is what you want, this is what you want
This is what you get, this is what you get
This is what you get, this is what you getEveryones asking the same thing
But you only have one answer by the way
They look at you, they look at you
Youre so afraid, youre so afraid, so afraid
Of what they think so you just turn awayYou run into your room, shut the door and cry
But dont stay true to these feelings you hold inside
You have your vanity and you cant blame them
When you believe it's true and everythings a lieIts true, its true
Its true, its true, its always been true
Its true, its true
Its true, its true, its always been trueThis is, this is what you wanted so you cant complain Life is, life is everything but what you think it is
This is what you want, this is what you want
This is what you get, this is what you get
This is what you get, this is what you get

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/