

Lauralee

Andrew Combs

I used to love to watch the wind
Fall and lift again
Your flowing hair
All I could do was stare That whispering quiet sound
When it all came tumbling down
Your skin all bare
It just isn't fair Cause I still feel you in the air somehow
Just like you were here, but you're not here now Lauralee
A word with wings
That's all the wind sings
Lauralee
The bed that you once shared with me
Lies there like my enemy
Such a clever thief
To steal my sleep Open windows, open eyes
But the wind don't sing no lullabyes
All I hear
Is a voice, so clear Asking where in the world did you go
After all my questions, I still don't know Lauralee
A word with wings
That's all the wind sings
Lauralee
Lauralee
A word with wings
That's all the wind sings
Lauralee
