

Believe In John

Millencolin

John Lennon said it's all you need
In theory it's hard not to agree
But when you look around today
The spirit of 67's long gone away
When you were young you let elders have your seat
You'd say hello to strangers in the street
When everything today has got a prize
It's hard to look the beggar in the eyes Do you still believe in John
Do you still believe in love
Do you still believe in John
Or is it lack of empathy you're suffering from
Self-centered motivation all around
The holy lord's ten commandments upside down
Obsessed with buying stuff that you don't need
In theory it's hard not to call that greed
The pressure's on to live a perfect life
With no pressure drop you might live a life in strife Do you still believe in John
Do you still believe in love
Do you still believe in John
Or is it lack of empathy you're suffering from
Slow down, you move too fast now
If you want to make the moment last now
We'd all like to admit it's getting better
But saying that's like posting a dead letter
Well, it's still in our hands to change it all around
(We need to come around)
Before the world gets too upside down, yeah
So let's come around, yeah
Do you still believe in John
Do you still believe in love
Do you still believe in John
Or is it lack of empathy you're suffering from
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>