Sweet November

Sarah Blasko

I thought about it tonight, I'm lucky to be alive
I never thought these city lights would ever shine so bright
Floating on the surface, threatened to be dragged down
I thought I was lost forever, it turns out I'm alrightSweetest November, winter wasn't here forever
Time to rest your weary head in the sun
Sweetest November, the world's renewed its color
Only just in time to welcome the summerI thought about you tonight, I'm glad that you're alive
And even in these uncertain times, you'll make it through the night
You were floating on the surface, threatened to be dragged down
I thought you were gone forever, it turns out you've been foundSweetest November, winter wasn't here forever
Time to rest your weary head in the sun
Sweetest November, the worlds renewed its color
Only just in time to welcome the summerCaptured in this light, beauty will survive
And purified by the fire, you have made it to the seaSweetest November, winter wasn't here forever
Time to rest your weary head in the sun
Sweetest November, the world's renewed its splendor
Only just in time to welcome the summerSweetest November, sweetest November
