

Stars

Nelly Furtado

There are so many stars
In the sky tonight.
Which one will I
Take in my hand? There are so many ways
I could live my life.
Which one will I
Make part of my plan? There are so many spirits
In the air tonight
Trying to pull me away. You're a part of me.
You're in every breath that I breathe.
And every step forward that I take
And then I take a step backwards
If I don't see your face?
You're a part of me.
You're in every song that I sing
And every bird that sings to me.
And this is what I dream to be real.
This is my reality. There are so many songs
In the people's faces.
Everyone could be yours
But they're not. And all this lost
If I can't be true
To my own heart. You're a part of me.
You're in every breath that I breathe.
And every step forward that I take
And then I take a step backwards
When I can't see your face?
You're a part of me.
You're in every song that I sing
And every bird that sings to me.
And this is what I dream to be real.
This is my reality. Because my heart is a lonely hunter
Dying to strike out.
Grabbed you into my world
When you didn't even ask,
But you always knew
That you had a past. You're a part of me.
You're in every breath that I breathe.
And every step forward that I take

And then I take a step backwards
When I don't see your face?
You're a part of me.
You're in every song that I sing
And every word that speaks to me.
And this is what I believe to be real.
This is my reality. And I live in this sea.
There are so many stars
In the sky, tonight

Songwriters

FURTADO, NELLY / MENDEZ, LESTER Published by Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>