

You Said (JTC Remix)

The Horrors

You said I had what I came for
And the whispers had washed you away
Held yourself at the window
But the rivers were turning your head
You said I had what I came for
And the whispers had washed you away
Held yourself at the window
But the rivers were turning your head
After the crash,
After the crash come the waves
And leave you with nothing
At least next to nothing
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
Now the echoes are endless
Whenever you say it aloud
All the whispers are heavy
And the whispers they wear you down
After the crash come the days
After the crash come the waves
And leave you with nothing
At least next to nothing
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
Stretching far into another night
A landscape with no heart
And no one sees her above
Oh there's nothing more to it now
Put aside and forgotten
Barely left alive
And forgotten too far gone to see you
And her eyes are too far gone to know
And her eyes are too far gone to know
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more
You've got to give me love
You've got to give me more

Songwriters

FARIS ADAM BADWAN, JOSEPH PATRICK SPURGEON, JOSHUA MARK HAYWARD, RHYS

TIMOTHY WEBB, TOM FURSE COWANPublished by Lyrics Â© BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.
Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>