Blood Covenant

Alove For Enemies

I am still locked in my sin, waiting for one person to save me from this world
I'm locked up in these chains of the world that is making me lose myself
Locked in chains, you set me free
It's always you that saves me from this, you'll never turn your back on me
Always giving me the same grace that you leave, to everyone who came before me
I am still locked in these chains breaking my will just to say what I used to be
Locked in chains you set me free
Locked in chains, you set me free from this Locked in chains, you set me free from myself
