Here comes the hardest part
But I don't need you I can break my own heart
And I know to expect the worst so when it falls apart I'm gonna land on my feet firstthere goes your only friend
If it don't work out you can always start again
But you know to expect the worse
So when it don't work out your gonna land on your feet firstSo were strangers again after all we've been through
Cause only strangers would act the way I act with you
After all that I've tried to forget what I've said
Its the strangers in my life that make me regretI don't want to fight cause I know its right
You don't have to drown in an ocean to die
I don't want to fight cause I know its right
You don't have to drown in an ocean to die
