When Love Fades

Toby Keith

Going through the motions pretending to be
The man you used to see in me, baby
You don't wanna hurt me so you play along
And it don't feel right and it don't feel wrongIt just feels like a memory
Barely alive

When will we let it dieWhere do you run? Where do you hide After the promise breaks?

Who'll be the one to say goodbye

And who'll be the one to stay when love fades? How are we gonna let go of something that's gone Ain't it funny how a broken heart just keeps hangin' on, baby

You watched me walk away and I set you free
But I come back to you and you come back to meI guess it beats being lonely
That's the reason why

We give it one more tryWhere do you run? Where do you hide

After the promise breaks?

Who'll be the one to say goodbye

And who'll be the one to stay when love fades?

When love fadesWhere do you run? Where do you hide

After the promise breaks?

Who'll be the one to say goodbye

And who'll be the one to stay when love fades?

When love fades
