

Time Machine

Poppy Brothers

shes as fine as flour since she left me my feelings havent changed but now my feelings dont fit me i try to see the bright side but sometimes a blessing in disguise is just the curse thats been keeping me up at night so i make believe that youre still with me i close my eyes and get in the time machine i rewind my life and watch you unpack id sell my soul just to bring you back but nobodys buying so i make believe shes the sun in summer and sweet as cake im cold dark and starved im light years away i make believe
