Light and Space (Radio Edit)

Threshold

As you look on your surroundings from the mountain to the sea
You find everything I gave you you see everything but me
I am the storm that won't be calmed I am the calm that follows
I'm in the stars that fill your sky and when I chooseI'll be in your thoughts
I'll be in your dreams
All the light you see all the air you breatheAs you look on all the hurting and the finger points at me
You see freedom in deserting and the cost of being freeI painted the heavens the sun and the moon
I know what's beyond them I know you
I know what's before you and what's going to be
But now is the moment you'll find meAnd all that you ever thought will fall to the ground like snow
Clearing the air you breathe whitening all you know
And all that you ever see is never the same again
Your eyes will be open wide then you will understandAs your science takes you further you'll eventually concede
You can only scratch the surface I'm the one who's playing me
I am the road that won't be found I am the sign that guides you
I'm in the air that's all around and when I chooseI'll be in your thoughts I'll be in your dreams
All the light you see all the air you breathe
