

Sleepers

The Wild Feathers

Where I live, what I live for
Is changing fast at my front door
If I could use my hands, become a better man
I might be all right And as your world, is turning
The years unfurl to learning
Don't have to sleep to dream
There's rivers and there's streams
Burning in my mind I might be killing the blue sky
I might be waiting a lifetime But I don't need the sun, to know the day's begun
Don't need the stars, to know where we are
I wanna make it right, I just need more time
Hold on to yours, hold on to mine
Teach me to learn through your window
All that I've earned is where the wind blows
If I could use my hands, become a better man
I might be all right I might be killing the blue sky
I might be waiting a lifetime But I don't need the sun, to know the day's begun
Don't need the stars, to know where we are
I wanna make it right, I just need more time
Hold on to yours, hold on to mine I might be waiting for nothing
I might be waiting a lifetime But I don't need the sun, to know the day's begun
Don't need the stars, to know where we are
I wanna make it right, I just need more time
Hold on to yours, hold on to mine
I don't need the sun, oh
Don't need the stars to know where you are
I wanna make it right
I wanna make it right Hold on to mine
Hold on to mine

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>