Dystopia

Eradikator

Waiting for the moon to rise again
Across the darkened sky
Stars, they will shine again
They're shining above youSatellite dreams come raining down
Keep falling to the earth
Now as they hit the ground
And shatter around youAny given minute we'll witness
The planets falling from on high
Sparkle as they're falling
Through the twilight skyFly over dystopia
All overNo one understood how we possibly Could circle round the world
Averting catastrophe
Averting the sunriseRunning out of senses to guide the way
We're running out of time
Running from yesterday
We're running through darknessAny given minute we'll witness
The planets falling from on high
Sparkle as they're falling
Through the twilight skyFly over dystopia
All over
