Saucer Eyes

Snowmine

Roaming out to anywhere
Leaves rustle under my feet.
Starlight dented canopy
Sensing foreign eyes on me.

Just hold a second.
A hand. A moon.
Wanting to hold
A second chance to see you soon.

After midnight
Saucer eyes.
When they're open wide
They'll disguise our drunken grins.
So don't mind the clothes we're in.
I guess we're gonna see
See the sun rise again.

In your face I saw a stone.
Nothing but your subtle drone.
Barefoot run away from home
Cuz nothing's worth a damn alone.

Just hold a second.
A hand. A moon.
Wanting to hold
A second chance to see you soon.
(2x)

After midnight
Saucer eyes.
When they're open wide
They'll disguise our drunken grins.
So don't mind the clothes we're in.
I guess we're gonna see
See the sun rise again.

Lyrics submitted by Sabrina Hennessy.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/