Madness hides in mistakes done over with a smile
We haven't felt each other in awhile
I'd like to put you in this song and string you along
Old flames die hard, and I've never been so glad to see that face
Maybe I can't get things right
Maybe I'm the worst mistake of all time
So take a chance girl, take a chance girl Swallow down this line And all I want is everything you've got
And all I want is everything Remember me every time you fall asleep, haunting all your dreams
You've got that style in the corners of your smile
It's good for me to chase after everything we used to be It's going down tonight, we're gonna party like it's 2009
Better say your prayers, 'cause we're going all out
Going pound for pound, I bring the noise like your nightmares sound
And we were born for this, and we can never live it down And all I want is everything you've got
And all I want is everything Remember me every time you fall asleep, haunting all your dreams
You've got that style in the corners of your smile
It's good for me to chase after everything we used to be It's good for me to chase after everything we used to be
It's good for me, let me pinch myself, is this still happening
It's good for me to chase after everything we used to be It's good for me, you knock me out, I'm still here smiling Remember me every time you fall asleep, haunting all your dreams
You've got that style in the corners of your smile
It's good for me to chase after everything we used to be
