Lament

Midnattsol

As I stood in the shade there beside him and as eyes turned to a paler shade of crimson as I felt cold blood waves running down my spine then I knew he wouldn't returnMaybe I should have known (better) some things we just have to bear I thought I could - still can't I saw it all coming downThat's what life's all about experience the unknown
now I know I'd rather not (sometimes) fear is our only foeAs I stood in the shade there beside them and as eyes runed to a brighter shade of blue again with a glimpse of an eye he did understand then he knew I wouldn't returnThat's what life's all about experience the unknown
now I know I'd rather not (sometimes) fear is our only foeMaybe I should have known (better) some things we just have to stand
I thought I could - still can't
I saw them both die in vain

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/