

Speak Plainly, Diana

Joe Pug

Speak plainly Diana
There's nothing to understand
Yes, there's mysteries in the basement
But there's comic books up stairs
And there's a wrecking ball in the front yard
But there's blue prints on the couch
Speak plainly to me Diana
We'll build ourselves a house
Said...There's no safety Diana
And there's nobody to blame
Even daylight will surprise you
Even dreams will end the same
So when there's too much to remember
And you remember me
Speak plainly to me Diana
We're swimmin' to the seaSaid...
I don't mind ridin' 'round (x8)Come lately Diana
And quit what's got you down
Steal from the tallest cabinet
And make your favorite sound
And when there's too much to get rid of
And you get rid of me
Speak plainly to me Diana
There's nothing you must be
