

Your Name

At Long Last

Can you ever forgive me?

I never thought it would end like this, but I guess thats okay

Youre acting awful dreamy, your touch is something that I will miss

Not even a kiss Tell me if its you, if its me thats okay

I try to think of something to say Were flying up in the sky, flying up in a dream, do you feel my warmth, do you feel anything?

Id try to come out clean, but thatd be too hard for you

Flying up like a bird, up like a plane, just holding hands and I know it sounds insane

But in my dreams, I know nothing would feel the same

And All I have of you now is your name So tell me what I did wrong, was it partly you? Are we too young?

Think of all the things that we did right, sleeping all day, staying up all night
