United we stand divided we fall
Music and Lyrics by Lars Brundin/J  rgen Johansson

---

On the Nebraska border lies a crazy horse
South of the Badland and the rivers
Yhaa that    s for sure
There some white claw on the border there some lines turning sharp
The water is on fire, the cold, the rain, the wind everything goes dark

Ohhhh ohhhhhhhh

Families lives here in trailers and cars and small small houses
In the flatlands of the shadow of this black, black mountain
And the stray dogs are chased by hunger among the tumbleweed
While our fathers are passing by, try to make us believe

Do not stand on my grave and weep
I    m not there I do not sleep
I    m the thousandth wind that blows
I    m the diamond glint on snow

Down in South Dakota somewhere along the American lie
There is blood on the highway and tears are coming down from the sky
The gods of this heaven please hear our call
United we stand Divided we fall

Ohhhh ohhhhhhhh
United we stand Divided we fall
