Angel

Stabbing Westward

I believed that love was sacred
As I dove blindly into her sea
But soon that warm embrace felt more like drowning
As endless waves crashed over meShe was an insatiable black hole
Feeding off my mind and off my soul
I found love humiliating
A sick and desperate need that drains me
God I hope I never feel againBut I've never been loved by an angel
I've never felt anything so pure
I've never been loved by an angel
Until tonight when your heaven filled my worldShe showed me love could lift me higher
With a kiss she repaired these broken wings
She revived my failing spirits
Restored my faith in everythingI have never felt I had a home
Even in a crowd I felt alone
I'd almost given up on life
I believe it's all a lie
And never thought I'd ever feel againBut I've never been loved by an angel
I've never felt anything so pure
I've never been loved by an angel
Until tonight when your heaven filled my worldI believed in nothing
But you believe in me
I thought that life was worthless
But you told me I'm a starBut I've never been loved by an angel
I've never felt anything so pure
I've never been loved by an angel
Until tonight when your heaven filled my world
Until tonight when your heaven filled my world
