

A-Ten

Millencolin

I'm holding you as you feel scared and small
'Cause you've lost someone you love and it's her you're thinking of
It's all that matters to you right now and it will be like this for long
I'll be close to you, won't hide 'cause I know you need me by your side You wanna see her back again
You wanna see her back into this world
You wanna see her back again
You wanna see her back into this world This past few months have been the toughest of your life
You've lost someone you love and there's no greater pain above
I know how close you were, you two and the joy and love you shared
It was sweet for me to see but now it's aching inside me You wanna see her back again
You wanna see her back into this world
You wanna see her back again
You wanna see her back into this world If only she could see you now
And deep inside I think she can somehow
She'd be the happiest mom, she'd be so proud
She'd laugh and smile
Shut up you're dreaming, you're screaming at me loud
And that's the way you really feel Back into this world
Back into this world
Back into this world
Back into this world
