

Tin Man

Inge Thomson

I don't know why I do what I

I don't know why I do what I do

It feels so good to meI guess that's why I do what I

I guess that's why I do what I do

'Cause it feels good to me

And it's right there for the takingWith a hammer and a nail a man left to die

With a hammer and a nail I eat this coconut

Yeah, it's trueI'm looking at the sunset wondering, 'So what?'

The Tinman's got nothing on me

Heart, I hope you wake up soonI don't know why I feel like I should change

I don't know why what I need and what I want

Can't be the same things, ohI don't know why I don't miss my friends

I don't know why I cannot comprehend

How special love can be

And it's right there for the takingWith a hammer and a nail a man left to die

With a hammer and a nail I eat this coconut

Yeah, it's goodI'm looking at the sunset wondering, 'So what?'

The Tinman's got nothing on me

Heart, I hope you wake up soonThe Tinman's got nothing on meWith a hammer and a nail a man left to die

With a hammer and a nail I eat this coconut

Yeah, it's goodI'm looking at the sunset wondering, 'So what?'

The Tinman's got nothing on me

Heart, I hope you wake up soon, please
