

Rusty (The Poor Soldier Mix)

Idlewild

You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step, and every page
You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step, and every page Your croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close,
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step and every page
And you're still worn out, more and more each day
There's every way to Your croft dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about

Songwriters

NEWTON, COLIN/WOOMBLE, RODDY/PRYCE-JONES, ROD Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>