The Fall Within

Sirenia

One moment I froze in life
I tried to grasp the time That moment seized to be revealed my destinyOnce you were a shining star I've watched you from the fields afar
The brightest of them all descend to face its fallHow can I sleep?
when I don't know whether I live or dream And how can I weep?
when I don't know if the pain I feel is realI stand upon the fall I'm giving in on all I watch the sun's decline for one last closing timeThe sundown share my thoughts of you
The winter moon bewail you too
You still remain to me a pending mysteryVoices are calling beyond the dawn where life and dream seems as one Moments and aeons pass before your eyes while you stand frozen in life Years all have passed now, since you gave in on the world of living Awaiting your strength there, upon the fall to put an end to it all...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/