Killing the Peace

Truth Before Treason

We "crossed the line"
We bring death and madness
You thought you were fine
You never would have imagined

We will not stand for you or your atrocities
We will not bow to you or your control

(Chorus) Can you read between the lines?
Can you fight what's controlling your mind?
Can you see what's best for you?
Then you would stand beside us too

The fight continues
Our hands stained red
The unspoken deathwish
Ringing in their heads

This is the time that we step in line and kill the peace
Just turn away because what we bring isn't for the weak

(Chorus)

How many times will you walk the path to broken sorrow?
And how many times would you fight for your life?
