Taking The Chance

Air Supply

You're in between a page of life you never dreamed
The answer won't come from that magazine
This time it's real and you're not sure just what to feel
Who can I trust to say

"Should I give love now, should I take love now?"I'm taking the chance and giving myself to you If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong

I just want our love to carry onSometimes the fear of losing you has been so near I needed to make this choice on my own

To let love in, when I'm so scared when things begin

Don't ever run away, I feel close to you now

You know I need you nowI'm taking the chance and giving myself to you

If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong

I just want our love to carry onI'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave
I don't want those nights of waiting so long

I'm taking the chance before it's goneTaking the chance

Taking the chance

Taking the chance

Taking the chance on youI'm taking the chance and giving myself to you

If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong

I just want our love to carry onI'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave

I don't want those nights of waiting so long

I'm taking the chance before it's goneI'm taking the chance and giving myself to you

If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong

I just want our love to carry onI'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave
I don't want those nights of waiting so long
I'm taking the chance before it's gone
