Humanity

A Guy Called Gerald

These days I find Im wasting my time
On all the little things that shouldnt concern me
Weighing my heart with such confused emotion
Letting anxiousness in where peace should prevailIts just my humanity
Getting the better of me
Its just my humanity
Getting the better, getting the better of meIve been working on it, just trying and working on it
Knowing the soul to be lighter if I could just shed this weight
Or just carry this weight without objection
So weight become lightness, so light becomes weightlessOh its just my humanity
Getting the better of me
Its just my humanity
Getting the better, getting the better of meIm lifting the lid off eventually Holding my head up and clarity
Where once there was proud
I know this place and smile insideOh its just my humanity
Getting the better of me
Its just my humanity
Getting the better, getting the better of meYeah its just my humanity
Getting the better, getting the better of me
Getting the better, getting the better, getting the better of meIts just my humanity
Getting the better, getting the better of me
