

Where's Your Heart

Reggie and the Full Effect

Where's your heart
It's the one I'm breaking
Who's the boy
With the piercing in his tongue Where's my love
It's the one I'm thinking
Who's that boy
With the shimmer in his eye Would it make a difference
To do it all again as a friend
Could we make it better
If we did it all again
And it still looks good to me Wears that smirk
There's no time for asking
Who's the one
With the a-kin in his heart Where's your heart
You're the one who's flaking
Never say
That I haven't even tried Would it make a difference
To do it all again as your friend
Could we make it better
If we did it all again
And you still look good to me (Put your hands in mine and you are mine)
Feel my hands there open
Put your hands in mine
(You'll know you're mine)
Take you away, show you the life
You'll ever see (Tell me everything is fine, everything is fine)
Keep your eyes wide open
I can make them mine
(You'll know what I mean)
Everything's fine, don't be afraid Where's your heart
It's the one I'm breaking
Who's the boy
With the piercing in his tongue Where's my love
It's the one you're faking
Where's that boy,
With the shimmer in his eyes Would it make a difference
To do it all again, as a friend
Could we make it better
If we did it all again And it still looks good to me

Would it make a difference
To do it all again
And you still look good to me

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>