

When He Carries Me Away

The Collingsworth Family

Here we are so often filled with heartache
So many times we weep when loved ones pass
But there's a place the gloom of death can't enter
And someday it will be my home at last
When we calls me to that land of no tomorrow
Where grief and tears are gone without a trace
I'll lay down all my trouble, cares and sorrow
And I'll carry them no more
When He carries me away
I have cried a river in the darkness
I have known the loss of precious dreams
But soon there will be perfect joy and gladness
All suffering will be gone from memory
When we calls me to that land of no tomorrow
Where grief and tears are gone without a trace
I'll lay down all my trouble, cares and sorrow
And I'll carry them no more
When He carries me away
No more curse of sin
No more doubts within
I will say goodbye to all of them
When we calls me to that land of no tomorrow
Where grief and tears are gone without a trace
I'll lay down all my trouble, cares and sorrow
And I'll carry them no more
When He carries me away
I'll lay down all my trouble, cares and sorrow
And I'll carry them no more
When He carries me away
When He carries me away
