Mason's Revenge

Senses Fail

You wore a summer dress
I wore my Sundays best
We were a pair that night
We dined like royalty
Kissing beneath the tree
We drank all the bottles dryAnd then you said
"Diamonds are girl's best friend"
I turned my head
I bit my lip and bit my lip againThat night I closed my eyes
Swimming through all my lies
In my regret, I laid, I turned to kiss your cheek
Your body was grieving
You opened your eyes and said
"We need to talk", my story gets its wish tonightI feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running away
I feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running awayI need a drink like a fish out of water
My head is spinning around
I don't know what to do
My pillows smell like you
I see you in every mirrorI feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running away
I feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running awayI need you like fire needs oxygen
I need you like fire needs oxygen
One last kiss
(Like fire needs oxygen)
Before you go
(Like fire needs oxygen)
One last kiss before you goI feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running away
I feel all the blood rush away from my face
When you said you can't do this
I plead my case and I'm sorry for running away
