This Could Be Our Day

Addison Road

What we do here is just the beginning
New life is starting at every ending
We are a part of the story unfolding
This is the weight of the world we are holding
This could be our day

Clearly it's time to make a change
Or I could keep sitting and waste all day
I know that it's time for me to move
I've been given this minute to use
And given this moment to prove

That what we do here is just the beginning
New life is starting at every ending
We are a part of the story unfolding
This is the weight of the world we are holding
This could be our day

I was holding back now I've come undone
I want to touch the world heal the broken ones
Ending the cycle has just begun
We've been given this minute to use
And given this life to prove

That what we do here is just the beginning
New life is starting at every ending
We are a part of the story unfolding
This is the weight of the world we are holding
This could be our day
This could be our day

To give ourselves away
For something beautiful
A million miles away
To the one who's Hungry, and thirsty
And needs some hope
To the people that are Weary and broken
And left alone

I'm giving myself away (Giving myself away)
I'm giving myself away

What we do here is just the beginning
New life is starting at every ending
We are a part of the story unfolding
This is the weight of the world we are holding
This could be our day
This could be our day

Lyrics submitted by garrett.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/