

Whenever It Rains

Chris Milam

Time goes by so fast
Sometimes the things we thought we had
Are gone like that
All our time ran out
But I still think about you now
When I see clouds

When I hear thunder
And the heavens open up
Then I feel the power that used to be your love
And I still tremble
Just like nothing ever changed
And I still surrender
Whenever it rains

I wake up at night
And I see that flash of light
I know it's you one more time
I can feel your skin
Just like the weather moving in
And I'm yours again

When I hear thunder
And the heavens open up
Then I feel the power that used to be your love
And I still tremble
Just like nothing ever changed
And I still surrender
Whenever it rains

When I hear thunder
And the heavens open up
Then I feel the power that used to be your love
And I still tremble
Just like nothing ever changed
And I still surrender
Whenever it rains
