Precious Jewel

Clint Crisher

Her name was precious jewel
She was the mother I never knew
I got lucky when I met her at 32
She was a dancer in Vegas
The best they'd ever seen
She knew how to work the floor
Like no one had ever done beforeShe shook her body strong
Raising her legs up long
Hanging from the poles
Starting from her toes
Gyrating up and down
That was precious jewel
The mother I never knewWorking the pole for a dollar a show
Old men leering young boys cheering
She was on fire, every man's desire
Filling the club every night
She was dynamite
My mother my mother precious jewelJewel was just stripping
Trying to make a living
Working long hours
Song by song
Selling her body
All night long my mom always knew
The show must go onThat was precious jewel
The mother I never knewExtra Vocals:
Using her body to flex
Bend showing off her sexy hot moves
And her electric attitude
She did things that made men lose their minds
Her panties were wet
When she finished a set
A pearl necklace was all that was left
Did you get it?
I am sure you won't forget it
Did I stutter?
Yes, I am talking about my mother
A sexy ass and a chest for days
Strippers work it in so many ways
Her name was precious jewel

The mother I never knewJewel was just stripping
Making a precious living
Working long hours,
Turning men on
Touching herself
Song by song, selling her body
All night long, mom always knew
The show must go on
That was precious jewel
The mother I never knew
