Sonic Syndicate

every night she stays at home waiting for him all she ever wanted was a fragment of his love every night he goes on stage chasing the dream still he spent every surreal second thinking of her i know we used to have it all figured out cant blame you for feeling deserted and alone and i know i promised you alot of things but i can no longer...

all of my life ive been waiting for some one like you to fill the void inside of me(inside of me) even of theres ten thousand miles between us youll always be the one closest to my heart i managed to bolster the defense of my heart a bit too dense, a bit too strong for my own good and you saw the small glitch on the solid ice wall and now you salved it up and made your way in

to fill the void inside of me(inside of me)
even if theres ten thousand miles between us

dont you see this is not he reckoning of the undoing of all we built up

of the undoing of all...

ill write it into lyrics,cause i couldnt put it into words it ruined alot for me never meant to...to hurt you never meant to cause you any pain but we both know how the story goes

cant blame you for feeling deserted and alone
i can no longer...

to fill the void inside of me(inside of me)

of the undoing of all...
