Confessions of Hatred

Sevendust

Impossible to reason with the thoughts in mind
To direct, to forget about my pastimes
I assure you of one thing
This is something you'll never forgetIn time, I'm sure you'll understand
The sound of the crack, the slap of my hand
Was only intended for one thing
The one thing I never hadPalms sweaty, thoughts dry
Hand fed by a broken mind
Hands shakin', don't cry
It'll all be overAnd then you'll have the chance to see the hole inside
The painted picture of a wounded mind
I can never escape this
You helped me create this hateMy undying addiction
How were you the last to know?
You brought this on yourself
Now you're the next in line to see all that I've become Confessions of hatredResponsible for bringing out my darkest side
I tried to hide what I feel
But it's my time to inflict all the damage
Some indescribable painHeart beating, last cry
Anticipating what I have in mind
Lick my lips, an approach to you
With undeniable *ing hateMy undying addiction
How were you the last to know?
You brought this on yourself
Now you're the next in line to see all that I've become Confessions of hatredOne day I'll become whole again, till then, I'll just remember
I thought you understood being misunderstood
How wrong was I to think you ever would?
One day I'll become whole again, whole againMy undying addiction
I never thought you'd be the last to know
You brought this all on yourself now
You will be the next in line to see all that I've become Victim till your last breath, all the hope is gone
Confessions of hatred, I'll show you pain

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/