Armour

Blue Rodeo

She took everything she owned threw it out in the rain walked away from that life she won't go back again had enough of people's lies enough of their blame she made a promise to herself she won't get fooled againDon't know why things come to me and why they disappear I only know that living changed when she got here I reached out my hand wiped the rain from her face the look she gave me stopped me cold held me in my placeWhen I look into her eyes growing wild what I see is such a wounded childNo matter what you're hiding what you want to keep inside you I am hiding too and we'll take a step somehow lay down your armour now and I'll come to youI know a fall is coming but it hasn't happened yet can't believe what I keep inside and what I can't forget the sun paints the evening sky and then it's gone I can't say I can save you but I swear I won't leave you aloneEvery night I listen to the silence in your heart I never want to see you that torn apartNo matter what you're hiding
what you want to keep inside you I've been hiding too
and we'll take a step somehow
lay down your armour now I'll come to you
come to you
come to you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/