For Justin

Dashboard Confessional

It's been a year now
Since you were hear now
And I'll be tryin
To heal inside
Dedications have
All been placed
And I see your
Resemblance in my face
And on our birthday
I'll set an extra wish for you
For you
And I have learned
So much since you've been gone
And I have done
So little for so long
So now I'll settle
Up my grievances
And focus on the savory
And wave all these
Discrepancies away
And I'll peter out
These misconceptions
Give out faith
At my discretion
Live a life that
You would think was sane

Sane
Display and changes
That they have made
And I wonder if you ever
Really wanted it this way
And in your memory they
Even hung a plaque for you
For you
And I have learned so much
Since you've been gone
And I have done
So little for so long

So now I'll settle up
These grievances
And focus on the savory
And wave all these
Discrepancies away
And I'll peter out
These misconceptions
Give out faith
At my discretion
Live a life that you
Would think was sane
Sane
